RACING TO BE GREAT FEATURE

Big Program For Kentucky State Fair.

NEARLY $7,000 IN PRIZES.

L. B. Shropshire, Assistant Secretary of the Fair, Has Arranged For Great Events During Week of Sept. 9-14. The New Course and Grand Stand.

From a racing standpoint patrons of the Kentucky State Fair during the week of Sept. 9-14 will be well provided for, as the program which has been arranged by L. B. Shropshire, assistant secretary of the Fair, is one of the best seen in Kentucky in years. He has arranged for six stake events for trotters and pacers valued at $600 each and six purse events for trotters and pacers valued at $500 each, and in addition he has provided for six running races, one for each day of the Fair, and a gentlemen's cup race and a gentlemen's riding race, the last named two to be decided the closing day of the Fair. Among the stake races will be one for two-year-old trotters, one for three-year-old trotters, one each for 2:18 trotters, 2:25 trotters, 2:13 pacers and 2:25 pacers. The purse events will consist of one each for free for all trotters, 2:18 trotters, 2:15 trotters, 2:20 trotters, 2:12 pacers, 2:17 pacers and one free for all for pacers.

During the past two years the racing feature of the Fair has proved one of the most interesting of any attraction provided by the management, and because of that fact it became apparent to Secretary J. L. Dent that better facilities would have to be provided for caring for the patrons of that particular feature. With this idea in view the very first contract entered into by Commissioner Newman and Secretary Dent was with contractors for the enlargement of the grand stand, and when the gates are thrown open the morning of Sept. 9 just twice as many people will be cared for in the race track section of the grounds as formerly. The new addition to the grand stand will be of re-enforced concrete, similar in every respect to the original part of the big stand, making it one of the largest as well as one of the most substantial grand stands in the country. Here can gather thousands of Kentuckians to renew old acquaintances as well as to witness the sport that is dearest to the heart of every native born son and daughter of the old commonwealth. Unlike many of the race tracks of the country, where trotting and running races are operated simply for the benefit of the track owners, the sport published at the State Fair can readily be designated as that of the "king of sports," as the management of the Fair has no idea of reaping any reward except that which comes from a good word passed around by its patrons. Therefore all races are decided strictly on their merits, and in each instance the best horse wins. That some of the best horses in training on the tracks of Kentucky and other states will participate in the trotting and pacing events on the program this year is demonstrated by the fact that already owners have applied for stable room for the week and have made numerous entries to the stake events.

Under the arrangements provided by Assistant Secretary Shropshire one stake event and one purse race will be decided each afternoon during the week, in addition to which will be one running race each day. As all events for trotters and pacers, with the exception of the two-year-old events, will be three in five heat affairs, it is needless to say that each afternoon will be crowded full of good sport for the Fair patrons.

EVERY BREED OF DOG.

Included in Bench Show at Kentucky State Fair, Sept. 9-14.

Perhaps the biggest and best dog show ever seen in Kentucky will be witnessed at the Kentucky State Fair this year, the week of Sept. 9-14. Heretofore the dog show feature of the state fair has been confined exclusively to collies, but this year the management has decided to have a bench show for all breeds of dogs, and to that end dog fanciers throughout the state have been invited to participate in the show. Since the invitations were first issued by the management through the press several weeks ago many of the fanciers in every section of the state have joined the movement to make this feature of the Fair a success. It is doubtful if there is a breed of dog known to this section of the country that is not being bred and raised in Kentucky, and it is the purpose of the officials of the Fair to have every breed represented. For several years the breeders of dogs other than collies have endeavored to interest the management of the State Fair in a bench show that would include every breed. Those who wish to enter their kennels in the big show can secure entry blanks and all information by applying to Secretary J. L. Dent. It is safe to say this show will eclipse all previous bench shows or dog exhibits ever held in Kentucky. The show will be held under the rules of the American Kennel club, which will give it national prestige and character.

At any time during the month of August we will fill your coal house with Jellico Block coal at 16 cents and give 80 lbs to the bushel. 15 cents on track.

Narrow Escape in Runaway.

Several persons had a narrow escape from serious injury in a runaway that occurred on the Springfield pike a few miles from town Wednesday morning. A team of horses hitched to a wagon in which a number of people from Willisburg, Washington county, were coming to Lebanon, became frightened when a part of the harness broke and ran off. While running at full speed the team dashed into the buggy of Mike Mackie, who who also was on his way to town Mr. Mackin was thrown out on the road and his buggy practically demolished, but fortunately he escaped with only a few minor bruises. The occupants of the wagon escaped without being seriously hurt.—Lebanon Enterprise.

The Fish And Game Law.

The substance of the same law and the way it is enforced are here given:

First—Commission of four are appointed to enforce the game laws. They to appoint a chief game warden at a salary of about $2,500 per year, and as many additional wardens as necessary. They to appoint all money from licenses, fines and sales of contraband goods.

Second—Any game warden can arrest a person caught in the act of violating the law without a warrant, seize his gun, net or other devices, and convey such persons or persons before a magistrate. Possession of animal or bird within prohibited time is evidence of guilt. Articles thus seized are turned over to Commission and sold or disposed of by them.

Third—Country attorneys, Commonwealth's attorneys, sheriffs and constables are required by law to see that the fish and game laws are enforced.

Fourth—Hunting licenses are issued by the county clerks between the dates of March 30 and December 15. The cost is $1 per year for a person who has been a bonafide resident of the State for a year and $15 for non residents.

Fifth—Persons may hunt on their own lands and the adjoining neighbor's land without license.

Sixth—The fine for hunting without license or loaning your license to another is not less than $25 or more than $100, or jail sentence.

Seventh—You are not allowed to shoot, hunt, or fish on enclosed grounds without consent of owner. Violators are subject to fine of $10 to $26 for trespassing.

What Makes a Woman?

One hundred and twenty pounds, more or less, of bone and muscle don't make a woman. Its a good foundation. Put into it health and strength and she may rule a kingdom. But that's just what Electric Bitters give her. Thousadds bless them for overcoming fainting and dizzy spells and for dispelling weakness, nervousness, backache and tired, listless, worn out feeling. "Electric Bitters have done me a world of good," writes Eliza Pool, Depew, Okla., "and I thank you with all my heart for making such a good medicine." Only 50c. Guaranteed by Haydon & Robertson.

Going After the Speeders.

The city council is going after the "speeders," with a sharp stick, and we'll miss our guess if some of the scorchers are not separated from a good size slice of their coin before long. Worse still, it is not improbable that some of the automobilists and motorcyclists who are in the habit of throwing open the throttle will find themselves facing a jail sentence. Large boards will shortly be erected at the city limits on each road leading into town warning the drivers of machines that speed must be reduced to 8 miles per hour, and the police officers have been instructed to arrest any and all offenders. The police have also been instructed to arrest any one driving an auto after dark without displaying lights.

"I saw a young man in a machine, going out Spalding avenue a few afternoons ago," said a member of the council yesterday, "running at least forty miles an hour. The machines was touching the ground only in high places and the way the youth was burning the wind would have done justice to a professional driver on the Indianapolis speedway. Instances of the kind are numerous, and, if not stopped, sooner or later a serious accident is going to happen. It must be stopped and if necessary drastic measures will be reported to put an end to it."—Lebanon Enterprise.

The Auto Craze.

Our business men all over the country are complaining as to the difficulty in obtaining the volume of trade that is due under the present apparently prosperous conditions. What is the cause? There are more causes than one—most assuredly, but to our mind one of the main reasons is the automobile fad and the enormous expense it involves. In the county of Mercer there are about one hundred and fifty autos costing an average of $1,200 each a total of $180 000. This is only a starter, however. Those that have kept a detailed account of their expenditures for gasoline, tires, repairs, interest, etc., tell us that $200 per machine would be a low estimate of the cost of up-keep. Thus $30,000.00 is spent on these items, or twice as much as is spent on the roads each year. The Leader believes in getting all the reasonable pleasures out of life that is possible, but we do not believe in going to extremes. Many people who can not afford such an expensive luxury are indulging and there is certain to be a time of reckoning. Business is being placed on a precarious basis and one crop failure would be certain to bring about the ruin of many who are innocent as well as those who have indulged too heavily in these expensive luxuries. We know what we say will not be of much effect on those who have the "bug," but we do wish to sound a note of warning. Business men will not be able to blame their customers for it entirely, for they are just as "buggy" as anybody else.—Harrodsburg Leader.

Wins First.

Big scores were the rule at the Alabama State Shoot held at Birmingham. W. T. Lisle, shooting Remington-UMC Arrow steel lined shells, won the state trap shooting championship, breaking 99 in 100. John K. Warren, shooting the same ammunition, was second, 96 out of 100. H. D Gibbs, shooting a Remington-UMC Pump Gun and Arrow steel lined shells, made high professional average, 492 out of 500, and high average for three hundred targets, professional, 296 out of 300. All winners of amateur averages, scores ranging from 470 to 481 out of 500, shot Arrow steel lined shells.

GREAT PLACE

For Rest is Tatham Springs This County's Summer Resort.

Tatham Springs has been unusually crowded in the past two weeks and, in consequence that popular resort has been the scene of much gaiety; Guests have been sojourning there from Lebanon, Lexington, Bardstown, Paris, Springfield, Versailles, Taylorsville, and other places. Last Thursday night the hop was largely attended, about fifty couples enjoying the dance. Charlie Frances and his orchestra, from Harrodsburg, furnished some excellent music. About midnight Dr. McChord announced that a watermelon feast was to be served immediately on the lawn, and the announcement was received with enthusiasm. The melons and cantaloupes were procured for the feast with much difficulty, Dr. McChord and the writer driving twelve miles to the home of Mr. Jesse Williams for them,

A BEAUTIFUL HOME.

Mr. Williams lives near the Nelson county line, and owns what is said to be one of the loveliest homes in Washington county. The house sits on a spacious lawn, kept in perfect order, and is surrounded by large oak, elm and sugar trees; and lovely blooming flower beds. The searchers for watermelons reached the house about noon, and were received with true Kentucky hospitality, which they enjoyed to the utmost. Mr. Williams does not raise watermelons for sale, but some very fine ones were secured, some of them weighing from 25 to 28 pounds. The feast was thoroughly enjoyed by the dancers and all the guests at the hotel who had not retired at the late hour at which the melons were served.

A BEVY OF BEAUTIES

A house party of fifteen young ladies, who were guests at the home of Misses Jennie and Frances Dawson, in Nelson county, spent last Wednesday at the Springs. They were classmates of the two young hostesses who attended Millersburg Female College last session. The young ladies, who came from Lexington, Paris, Lopisville, Cincinnati and Harrodsburg Miss Sue Mitchell representing this city. They were chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Williams, Mrs. Clifton Taylor and Mr. James Payne. The latter is the only surviving Mexican veteran in Washington county, and also has the distinction of being about the wealthiest man. He is about eighty-five years old and is one of the most popular men on our rent roll. A short time ago he had a days journey. He is an ardent Roll Roosevelt Republican, believes that Teddy was sent to save the country. Mr. Hayes is also a widower, and frequently visits the Springs, where he is very much of a ladies man, a d quite popular.

BATHING POOL.

One of the most enjoyable features at Tatham is the bathing pool. This is thoroughly good with its smooth rock bottom, and which is only a short distance steps from the north veranda of the hotel. The large pool is frequently filled with men, women, and children, all enjoying themselves to the fullest in the cool water. If you go to Tatham be sure to take your bathing suit along.

"UNCLE BUD" COULTER.

In the vicinity of Tatham there are said to be about 350 voters, and only two of these are Democrats, "Uncle Bud" Coulter and Mr. George Washington Wohner and if a Taft man is in the precinct he cannot be located. So it's plain to see where all the votes in that vicinity will fall in November. Uncle Bud lives a couple of miles from the hotel up Glenn Creek and is a daily visitor at the Springs where he is very much of a favorite with the guests. He is always accompanied by a little black fice, twenty seven years old. A few evenings ago Uncle Bud's dog created a good deal of amusement. The dog was sound asleep under a tree near where Uncle Bud was chatting to a crowd of friends. He arose from his chair, stretched himself, and remarked to the dozing dog, "If it's time for us to go home get up and bark." On the instant the little black animal jumped up and made the welkin ring with noise, showing very plainly that it considered it was time to home, and Uncle Bud immediately took his departure. Although Uncle Bud never fails to stump under the rooster and let it do the scratching, he doesn't keep as well posted in politics as he did in his younger days. In a political discussion with Mrs. Charles A. Hardin, Sr., on the merits of Woodrow Wilson, Uncle Bud remarked that he was very well acquainted with him, that he knew Woodrow when he was sheriff of Mercer county. It will be remembered that the late J. K. Wilson was sheriff of this county just after the war, and Uncle Bud merely got his men mixed.

A BIG REVIVAL.

Has been going on at the church four hundred yards from the hotel. Services have been held twice a day, morning and evening, and many guests at the Springs attended them both. Last Sunday there was an all-day meeting which was attended by people from far and near, many of whom brought huge baskets of lunch which was spread on the lawn. There is much more we would like to write about Tatham Springs, but time forbids. But we do say to all who want an enjoyable outing and restful recreation, with plenty of good things to eat, take a week off and visit Tatham.—Harrodsburg Herald.

Arrested for Shooting Dog.

Wilson Dooley, a young man well known throughout the city, was up before his honor, Judge Wright, Saturday, on a charge of a breach o' a city ordinance, in shooting firearms within the corporate limits. The charge grew out of the fact that Dooley had shot a dog supposed to be mad, acting upon a request to do so made by Mrs. Hugh Noe. The dog had attacked a child of the Noe's, severly biting the little one, and under the impression that the animal was inflicted with the rabbies Mrs. Noe had called upon young Dooley to despatch the brute. Dooley was arrested by Officer Trotter Friday, and held under $50. bond for a hearing. Saturday Judge Wright very justly dismissed the case, with a little fatherly advice to Mr. Dooley to exercise care at all times when prompted to use firearms.—The News Journal.

Must Support the Child.

Richard C. Filiatreau, about 32 years old, was tried on a bastardy warrant by a jury in the County Court, Monday afternoon, Miss Elizabeth Corbett being the complainant. The jury returned a verdict that Filiatreau should pay to Miss Corbett for support of the child $150 per year for a period of 20 years.

It appears that Miss Corbett who now is only 18 years old, is a half sister of Filiatreau's wife and since she was 10 years old has lived most of the time with her half sister, at the Filiatreau's home, on the Loretto and St. Rose Pike at the Washington county line. During September of last year, owing to the illness of Mrs. Filiatreau, her half sister, Miss Corbett, who was then 17 years old, was kept out of school to wait on her half sister and 4 young children. It was at this time that the girl was led astray, the child being born last June.—Marion Falcon.

Commissioner's Sale

M. K. Hayes' Admrs, etc Pltf
vs Equity
Scott Johnson, etc. Dft

By virtue of a Judgment and order of sale of the Washington Circuit Court rendered at the May term 1912, in the above styled cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale on the premises, on at 2 o'clock p.m., or thereabout to the highest bidder at public auction, upon a credit of 1, 2 and 3 years, equal installments the following described property, to-wit:

A certain tract of land situated in Washington county, Ky., about 4½ East on Springfield and known as the ARCHIE MAY farm.

The farm referred to in above mentioned order, contains 239 acres, 3 R. and 26 Poles, and is the rich Pleasant Run section of Washington County, than which there is no better land for growing tobacco and general farming in Kentucky. On this farm is a large and beautifully proportioned residence in good repair and standing on a particular well chosen site, a large and well built tobacco barn and all other outbuildings necessary.

This farm is probably better equipped with respect to turnpikes than any other place in the county, being bounded on the north, or front, by Springfield and Perryville pike, on the east by Lebanon and Pleasant Run Shortline pike, on west by Barbour's Mill and Lebanon pike.

The fertility of its soil, the quality of its improvements and the convenience of its location make this farm certainly one of the most desirable, both as a home and as a business proposition in this part of the state.

The sale of this property will carry with it seeding privileges for fall of 1912, and full possession on January 1, 1913.

This land will be offered in two or more parcels, as may seem to suit purchasers best, and then as a whole, the bid or bids realizing the most money to be accepted.

For the purchase price the purchasers with approved security or sureties, must execute bond bearing interest from date of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a Judgment. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

A Suggestion.

Carry a smile with you as well as a calling card—it is a better introduction.

Our enmities are caused by misunderstandings, and they are all melted in the sunshine of heart. Take a chip off your shoulder and stop your still hunt for it suits. Do not take the little "worries that vex and fret" too seriously. Science has recently proven that every thought we entertained does something to our body. Fear spoils digestion, anger benumbs the brain, jealousy disturbs the circulation, insincerity injures the breath, cowardice unsettles the nerves, anxiety robs sleep of its benefit, misunderstanding so upsets the action of the heart that various disorders may ensue. To the contrary, each positive, hopeful, energizing thought makes us live longer better. Joy lubricates, despair clogs, the physical as well as the mental organism. You cannot nurse your troubles and grapple with your problems at the same time. Worry leads to chaos, but mirth seats emotional fog. The worker who enjoys his work does it twice as well.—Ex.

MANY GOING TO CIRCUS

Ringling Bros. Attract Unusual Interest With Many Big Features.

Ringling Brothers' circus is attracting unusual interest this season because of its many new features and the new aspect given the show by the addition of the great spectacle, "Joan of Arc." The circus will be seen in Lebanon, Ky. on September 5th afternoon only and this city and surrounding country will be well represented as it always is when Ringling Brothers are within excursion distance.

There will be a new parade in the forenoon three miles in length. The menagerie is practically twice as big as it was last year and contains many specimens of strange animal life new to American coast. Audiences will be entertained by 375 of the greatest of Europe's circus artists. Chief among the stars who are exploiting novelties and sensational acts are the Ty-Bell sisters, known as "The Human Butterflies," whose remarkable aerial performance was the talk of Europe last winter; Carlos Cassaro, known as "the man with the iron head"; the great Bonny family of equestrians, the Castellon, the Hines-Kimball and the Florence families of acrobats; Joseph La Fleur, who does a backward dive from the dome of the tent; the Schuman performing horses, three herds of trained elephants that are new to this country, and Capt. Huling's two troupes of trained seals and sealions. There are many more big acts. Novelty and freshness are the keynote of the performance and there are fifty clowns to keep the audience in constant merriment.

The great feature of the show is of course the newly added spectacle, "Joan of Arc," with a trainload of special scenery, costumes and stage properties and a cast of 1,200 characters. There is also a ballet of 800 dancing girls, a chorus of 400 voices and an orchestra of 100 soloists. This is the greatest dramatic and spectacular production ever presented in America, enacted on a specially built stage bigger than a hundred ordinary theatres. It is made portable so that it can be erected in the main tent each morning. This great entertainment is given as an introductory to the regular circus performance and entails no extra charge of admission.

"Joan of Arc" tells a masterful story from French history in a thrilling and dramatic way and with the wonderful illusion of tons of special scenery and stage devices. In the great battle scene the audience is held spellbound by the realism of the scene while the enactment of the coronation of Charles VII is beyond question the most sumptuous and inspiring stage picture ever seen.

Women Running For Office.

(Rochester Herald.)

Twenty-four states of the union this year have women candidates for congress, and it is believed that several women stand a very good chance of election. Sara Platt Decker, who died the other day after a surgical operation, was an avowed candidate for the United States Senate from Colorado, and some political observers in that state believed that Mrs. Decker would have been successful if she had lived. It is a new situation which confronts us in politics, and one which ought to be considered very seriously.

It is a serious situation, for the first thought which will come to the political philosopher after reflection is that the quality of American manhood must be deteriorating. Is it possible that there is a state in the American union which lacks two men competent to fulfill the duties of a United States Senator? Is it possible that there is a congressional district which lacks a man capable of representing his constituents worthily? If such be the case, then the quality of American school must be deteriorating. Foreigners who visit our shore often speak very disrespectfully of our men. They regard them as nothing more than business machines, laboring to support the feminine members of society. Many of these foreign observers, most of them, indeed, regard the American woman as a very shallow creature, but they are all agreed that the American man is her slave. It is quite natural that they should think so, for European politics are more virile more masculine than our own, and the views of European men are seldom influenced by feminine speculation or whim.

A Great Record.

Thurman & Peters, of Springfield, Ky., made their first show of saddle horses at Leichfield last week winning the following:

Aged saddle stallion, first on Bourbon's Best; 3 year old harness stallion, first on Bourbon Gay, 2 year old son of Bourbon's Best; yearling saddle and harness stallion, first on Casey Jones by Fox McDonald; saddle and harness stallion under one year old, first on "Jarlet," by Bourbon's Best; 3 year old harness mare, first on Lou Chief, by Monigomery Chief, (this mare belongs to Rich Paul, of Columbia, Ky.; 3 year old saddle mare second on Lou Chief (this mare also won 4th in the big saddle stake); 2 year old harness mare, first on Buchwold Lass, second on Golden Blossom; saddle and harness filly under one year old, first on May Blossom by Bourbon's Best; mare and colt, first on Inna McCasky and colt by Bourbon's Best; best pair of harness horses regardless of age, color, and sex, first on Buchwold Lass and Lou Chief; finest horses owned by one individual or firm, first on His Honor, Bourbon Gay, Casey Jones, Buchwold Lass and Golden Blossom. His Honor though just recovering from a spell of sickness made rather a brilliant show against aged horses in the harness stake, winning third place, first going to Red Light and second to Sterling Nichols great gelding.—Farmers' Home Journal.

The Bardstown Fair

One of the classiest county fairs in Kentucky is that of Bardstown, which will be held this year the first week in September. This splendid old institution is historic both in name and fame. Its grounds are beautiful; its displays are always of the best and the hospitality of its people is unsurpassed.

From the report of its officers, this year bids fair to be the livest, brightest, and best of its history. If you want to have a real good time, go to the Bardstown Fair Sept. 4-5-6-7.

Cost of Bad Roads.

It costs twenty-three cents to haul a ton of farm produce one mile over semi-improved roads. Over gravel or stone roads it costs a fraction less than ten cents. If a farmer's average haul to a shipping point is nine miles he must spend three cents extra for every bushel of wheat he hauls to market, because the county does not build good roads.

At twenty bushels to the acre and fifty acres of wheat the farmer raises one thousand bushels of wheat. Thus he must spend as useless, senseless bad-road-tax thirty dollars every year on wheat alone. If every farmer in McCracken county were taxed one and one-half cents for each bushel of wheat he raised, and for this were guaranteed good roads, the heavens would hardly hold the sound of mighty protest. Yet he now is paying half of what he once throws away.—Paducah News Democrat.

Farmers of the State are to have the opportunity to have expert demonstration from the Federal Government, State Commissioner J. W. Newman, says that he is now assured that the measure will be a go. Ten Federal Demonstrators will take up the work in various portions of the state. They make arrangements with some one to plant a portion of his fields according to his own ideas, and the demonstrator plants the other portion, and cultivates according to improved methods, thus demonstrating side by side the advantage of his method. Secretary Newman says that he hopes to have a demonstrator in every county before his term expires.

It begins to look as if the Voters of Kentucky have chosen wisely when they elected Mr. Newman. He does not follow up impracticable things, in which little or no interest is taken, such as Farmers institutes. But is ever striving for something novel, that he may the better, make farming a matter of education. Farmers institutes will be held only where they are requested this year. The Agricultural Train was a great success, and we want more along the same line.

Governor Marshall, Democratic Vice-Presidential Candidate made a telling speech at Portland Maine a few days ago. He attacked both the Regular Regular Republican party and likewise the Progressive. Referring to Mr. Roosevelt he said, "Does any one doubt that for seven and one half years the leader of the progressive party was in power in this country. Can any one put his finger upon a single effort made by him to curb the monopolistic tendency which was then rampant. Does any one believe that his new platform which stands both for Socialism and for a system of licensing and curbing, is anything more than a bid for votes?" In regard to the Regular Republican organization he said that no one would believe it when it says that it is opposed to special privilege.

His bold and fearless declaration "I believe is vested rights, but I dont believe in vested wrong" is one that will stamp him as the kind of timber we are looking for to elect to the office next to the highest.

The Department of Education has announced the apportionment of the public school fund among the 1200 counties the Per capita is $4.00 and to this is added each county's share of the dog tax funds. So that each county has more than the percapita of the State. Washington County's per capita will be $4.02. The per capita is large compared to what it has been in years past, for up until recent years the pay was entirely inadequate to secure competent teachers in many schools. The present per capita is none too much compensation for the important work of the teacher.

Washington county's teachers take rank with the best in the state and no county in the state has better schools or better better qualified teachers than we have. The teachers are all highly educated, and thoroughly competent for the work. We point with pride to the record made by them and to the record of pupils trained under them.

Governor Woodrow Wilson's announcement that he will speak only on particular occasions and that he will make no stumping tour; is being favorably received by the Campaign Committees. We think that the Governor is right, for the trouble with many Presidential candidates, is that they talk too much. On speaking tours much is said without due deliberation.

We want deliberation for the Presidency.

Washington, Aug 23.—A plan to assassinate Representative Ben Johnson, chairman of the District of Columbia Committee, and thus remove his opposition to a bill favored by certain interests in Washington is revealed in an affidavit in the possession of Speaker Champ Clark and Mr. Johnson. This was learned today.

The affidavit was sworn to in the Speaker's office recently by a reputable citizen of Washington who riding on an F. street car, heard a man say that he had followed Mr. Johnson for three nights, just preceding, for the purpose of slugging the Kentuckian from behind and killing him. The Speaker, who is a close friend of Mr. Johnson, instantly had his informant prepare an affidavit, giving the name, street address and remarks of the alleged would-be-assassin.

Miss Woodsie Yankey spent Saturday night with Miss Maud Hilton.

The ice cream supper given by Miss Hallie Isham was well attended and all report a good time Those present were as follows: Misses Murgie and Augusta Shewmaker, Lillie Young, Cordelia Whitehouse, Maggie Bell Wilkerson, Lillie Smock. Settie Stump and Ina Milton; Mr. and Mrs. Charley Milton, Mr. and Mrs. Everit Hendren, Mr and Mrs. Grant Stumph, Mr. and Mrs. Odis Milton, Mr and Mrs Tom Bugg, Mrs. Levi Brady, Miss Lettie Wilson and Mr and Mrs. Will Young, Mr Charley Hall, Mark Powell, Robert Smith, Charley Cocanaugher, Willie Milton, Joe Davis, Lee Bugg, Herbert Shewmaker, Medford Milton, [illegible] Brady, Annie Smith, [illegible] Whitehouse, Alvin [illegible], Burnette Young and Hartford Isham.

Cure for Pneumonia.

Take six large onions, chop them fine and put in a pan over the fire; then add the same quantity of rye meal and vinegar, enough to make a thick paste. Stir thoroughly and let simmer for about ten minutes. Then put in a large cotton bag and apply to the chest as hot as can be borne. In ten minutes apply another. By reheating the poultices, continue for a few hours. The patient will be much improved. Three or four applications are sufficient.

Out of Place.

"Why all those contortions?" "Oh, I wish I had an idea for a poem." "What do you want to put an idea into a poem for?"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, brick-dust or sediment in the urine, head ache, back ache, lame back, dizziness, sleeplessness, nervousness, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and better health in that organ is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. Swamp-Root corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. A trial will convince anyone.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root—if you do you will be disappointed.

Rather Unreliable.

"You say that you refuse to believe the sworn testimony of this man?" asked the examining barrister.

"That is so," replied the witness.

"What reasons have you?"

"Why, I know the man! He hates to tell the truth—it's absolutely foreign to his nature. He and I were at the same school, and he used to cry bitterly when the teacher made him repeat that two and two made four."

"Have you any further reminiscences, sir?" This rather sarcastically from the man of law.

"Oh, dear me, yes! Once he was ill and described his symptoms so that the doctor prescribed for water on the knee, when he was really suffering from inflamed tonsils!"

Draining Desert Lands.

One of the curiosities of irrigation is that it is sometimes necessary to drain such lands. When the lands are situated on a comparatively level, the water from the irrigation ditch above seeps along the line between the rock formation and in many cases accumulates in such an amount that it actually becomes swampy. Then it has to be drained, just as in the case of the south. It seems strange to witness the laying of a drainage system in an arid country, but it has been done a great many times. The average user of irrigation who fails may trace his lack of success to the too liberal use of water. Instead of watering he really drowns his crops.

All That Was Left.

A large boarding house caught fire during dinner and much confusion resulted. After the worst was over the landlady, who was a philosophical soul, remarked that it was a blessing that the fire had not happened at night, as some life might have been lost.

A little later the colored boy, who heard this, mysteriously called her aside and cautiously exhibited a great bunch of dark tangled hair. "Don't say nothin', Miss Nora," he whispered. "Dis flah is worse dan it 'pears. One o' dem ladies in de room ovah de liberry done got burnt up. I ben up dar to see, an' I found her hair."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Best Way to Rest.

Sometimes the best way to work is to take a few hours of relaxation before plunging into troublesome duties.

It is impossible to rest unless there are quiet and calm in the mind and peace in one's heart and soul.

A trouble worried brain disturbs the entire physical forces, making one incapable of work or one's best efforts.

There is a great difference between the naturally lazy person and one who knows the need of rest. One cannot find pleasure in rest unless one works for otherwise there is no contrast. It's like eating when one isn't hungry. No hurried, flurried, fussy woman can ever be beautiful.

Her Reason.

"Mrs. Bloodgood is sending out cards of invitation for a little dance."

"Wants to entertain a few friends, does she?"

"Yes, and to snub a few more."—Harper's Bazar.

Against All Tradition.

"That millionaire is a very queer chap."

"As to how?"

"Never claims he was happier when he was poor. Always says he is happier now."

Fortune From Watercress.

Mrs. James is said to have amassed a fortune of $400,000 by selling watercress at Covent Garden market, London. Mrs. James has been selling watercress ever since she was five years old, beginning with two small basketfuls. "Hard work is the secret of success," Mrs. James declares. "I stand out in the open every morning from three o'clock till ten, and after that I have to look after the fresh cut watercress which arrives from my farm by every passenger train. Study your customers, never disappoint them, give them the best and you must succeed." Mrs. James has a handsome house in London, a house in the country, a watercress farm, and keeps a motor launch.

Elaborate Apology.

"What do you mean by waving that red flag and stopping the train?" asked the irate engineer.

"You wrong us," replied Meandering Mike. "We was holdin' a little meetin'. What you saw was de new anarchist version of de Chautauqua salute."

Was 102 and Didn't Know It.

John Wilson, a naval pensioner who has died at Bexhill, Sussex, aged 102, did not know that he was a centenarian. His true age was only discovered after his death, when his naval service papers were examined. Previously his age had been estimated from the date of his baptism at 99.—London Daily Mail.

GREAT HORSE SHOW.

State Fair List Headed by $1,000 Stake Week of Sept. 9-14.

The horse show feature of the Kentucky State Fair the week of Sept. 9-14 gives promise of being the greatest event of its kind ever held in Kentucky or the south, and visitors will be afforded an opportunity of seeing the greatest number and the highest class show horses ever gathered together in a similar exhibition in any part of the country. The list of events to be decided during the week of the Fair is headed by the $1,000 stake for five gaited saddle horses, three-year-olds and over, entries to which closed July 1. With the exception of one other stake of the same value, this is the richest saddle horse stake to be contested for in America this year, and because of this fact the entries closed July 1 with thirteen nominations, the largest number ever entered in a similar event in America. Of the thirteen nominations made they represent eleven owners, and it is certain that at least eleven will be shown in the big stake, which will be decided Friday night of the Fair. Among those nominated in the rich prize are Powhattan Woolridge, Louisville, one entry; P. W. Ray, Bowling Green, two entries; the Undulate farm of Colonel Harry Weissinger of Shelbyville, two entries; Ball brothers, Versailles, one entry; Collins & Redmond and Allie G. Jones, North Middletown, one entry each; J. L. Nicol & Son, Woodburn, one entry; Mrs. Richard Tasker Lowndes, Danville, one entry; Robert E. Moreland, Lexington; Hickman & Ormsby, Louisville, and Matlack & Shropshire, Winchester, one entry each.

While the horses will not be named until Sept. 1, the list of eligibles includes such star performers as Kentucky's Choice, Sadie Macey, Rexall Prince, Hazel Dawn, Major Dare, Marvel King, Nicol Plate, Princess V. and others of equal merit.

Other events for three and five gaited saddle horses as well as for light harness horses insure the horse show at the State Fair this year will prove one of the greatest attractions in the history of the Fair.

KENTUCKY STATE FAIR NOVELTIES.

One of the Best Planned Is a Farm Boys' Encampment.

Each succeeding year brings new features to the Kentucky State Fair, some in point of instruction, others in point of amusement. This year the newest and one of the best features ever planned by the Fair management is the holding of a Farm Boys' Encampment during the week of the Fair. It is planned to have one boy from each of the 120 counties in the state in this encampment. This will give one representative boy from each county a chance to see and to study the best that is possible in the way of live stock, farm products, improved methods, improved machinery and, in fact, every appliance and tool in use on an up to date farm.

The knowledge and educational benefit derived from this camp of instruction will be spread broadcast throughout the entire state. The selection of the boys will be made on a competitive examination of essays by a committee composed of the county school superintendent, a member of the state board of agriculture and a member of the faculty of the Agriculture college. The applicant must be between the ages of fifteen and eighteen years and must reside and work on the farm. The essay to be submitted by them is to consist of not less than 100 and not more than 600 words upon the subject of "Our Home Farm." The essay must be in the hands of the committee before the 25th of August. The applicant whose essay receives the highest standing will be entitled to a free trip to the Kentucky State Fair from each county.

In addition to free transportation, lodging and meals at the Fair grounds will be furnished. The boys will be met at the railway station in Louisville by competent guides, who will take them to the Fair grounds, at which place they will be under the immediate supervision of Professor T. R. Bryant of the Agricultural college. For the purpose of studying exhibits the boys will be divided in small groups in charge of competent instructors.

It is the hope and intention of the Kentucky State Fair management to make this [illegible] feature and a permanent one, in which event a greater appreciation of the value and merit of a state fair exhibit will be aroused.

The Game of Lacrosse.

The game known as lacrosse was originally played by the Canadian Indians, and from them adopted successively by the French and English [illegible] introduced to the United States. The object of the game is to drive the ball through goals situated at each end of the field. The players are usually twelve on a side. In 1867 the Lacrosse Association of Canada was formed, and an Indian team visited Great Britain, creating great excitement. The game is one of real importance in the English sporting world.

New York's Pushcarts.

If all the pushcarts, street stands and wagons engaged in the peddling business in New York city were placed end to end in one unbroken line they would reach from the Battery to Yonkers, a distance of seventeen miles. There are thousands upon thousands of them, and they deal in almost everything, from a paper of pins to a house and lot; from a pair of shoe laces to the complete furnishings for a household. Approximately 120,000 men, women and children are dependent upon the pushcart business for a livelihood. The business done has been conservatively estimated at more than $5,000,000 a year.—New York World.

The Democrats are not taking the election of Wilson for granted. They are working and working harder than in a score of years and working as a united party.

It is reported that papers which are supporting the bull mooser have ordered extra fonts of "I's." And they will be needed when Teddy gets to talking.

Gag for Noisy Geese.

The geese which play an important role in a certain opera recently presented in Milan, Italy, have been so noisy of late during rehearsals, drowning the voices of the singers, that a veterinary surgeon was consulted the other day, and he overcame the difficulty by inserting in the bill of each goose a chloroformed plug, causing temporary paralysis of the vocal chords, just before the rising of the curtain.

Exigencies of Art.

When Richard Mansfield was rehearsing the minuet scene in Beau Brummel, the end of the music left him with one foot suspended in midair. Poised on the other foot, the actor burst into explosive anger, demanding in no uncertain tone of voice: "Give me a chord to put my foot down on!" The musicians jumped to their instruments, and to a grand blare, Mr. Mansfield planted his foot on the stage.

The Woman Who Acts Naturally.

Women who are not anxious about the effect they produce, women who act naturally, have a wonderful advantage over the self-conscious—those who are either vain of their beauty or dissatisfied on account of their lack of it. All this takes away from their natural charm, their understanding, their sympathy. Many people expend so much sympathy on themselves that they have none to spare for any one else.

Ages of the Earth.

A French Scientist informs us that the earth may be [illegible] years old, although other scientists have never dared to estimate the age of our planet at more than [illegible] years. We would become vitally interested in this matter if it were not for the fact that it would be just as hard as ever to stay in the earth even if we were to establish proof of the correctness of the French scientist's estimate.

Lived Wisely and Well.

Felix Schweighofer, the German comedian who died recently, left an estate valued at 1,000,000 marks, and commenting on the extraordinary fact one of his biographers says: "He was a model citizen as well as a great actor. As a citizen he was content to be one of the great majority and had no ambition to be one of the 'grand' class. He was thrifty, but his purse was never closed against the needy and what he did for them was done in secrecy. He was not like many gifted and consequently popular actors who have their regular court, their flatterers, press agents and even scientific helpers. They live in splendor and in the glory which they purchase. They enjoy their lives not so thoroughly as did Schweighofer; but what remains when their curtain has descended is not often a million."

Sold Wife to Friend.

At the village of Utznach, Switzerland, the other day, a curious sale took place. With her own consent a woman was sold by her husband to another man, an Italian, and a friend of the Swiss couple. The price asked by the affectionate husband was four dollars. To further "legalize" the bargain, the Italian procured two witnesses to the transaction and had a contract written on stamped government paper.

SHE BLAMES "SPIRIT WIFE"

Mrs. William Phelps Dodge Divorced Husband Because Uncanny Influence Ruled Him.

The uncanny influence of a "spirit wife" is said to have been responsible for the divorce action which Mrs. William Phelps Dodge has just won against her millionaire husband.

The decree, which was signed in Philadelphia, would have been granted several weeks ago, it is understood, but the judge wanted to make a longer investigation of the unusual charges brought by the girl wife of the widely known author and lawyer.

According to the papers in the case, Mr. Dodge, who is sixty-eight years old, met his young bride here at Sherry's on election night, 1909, and after an impetuous courtship married her in London on January 10, 1910.

Prior to that time she and her sister had been in the chorus of "Havana," a musical comedy playing at the Casino.

Despite the difference in their ages—the bride was only eighteen—the couple lived happily for a couple of months after the wedding. Then Mrs. Dodge charges that the spirit of Mr. Dodge's first wife, dead, appeared before him and began to "pick on" her successor.

Young Mrs. Dodge said that whenever she wore a [illegible] or anything that the first Mrs. Dodge had [illegible] the [illegible] spirit would appear before her husband and demand that he have it [illegible] at once.

And, according to the girl wife, the spirit wife was always obeyed.

At the mixed court recently a charge of arson was preferred against a shopkeeper whose premises are situated in Woosung road. After evidence had been adduced the accused was discharged, says the North China Daily News. His assistant, who was also before the court, received six weeks' imprisonment for carelessness in connection with the outbreak.

Met Death in Strange Fashion.

A curious fatal accident occurred the other day in northern France, at Douai. An engineer was trying a new motor on the biplane in the shed belonging to M. Molneaux, the aviator. His muffler caught in the propeller and wound around the shaft, dragging the unfortunate man within reach of the blades. He was scalped and his skull fractured.

Origin of "Mausoleum."

When Mausolus, king of Caria, died his widow, Artemisia, decided to erect over his body the most magnificent tomb that the world should ever see. Sculptors and artists from every known land were put to work and no expense was spared, and for years the work was pursued, though it was not finished even at the death of his widow. It is from this incident that there arose the word "mausoleum," which means a stately tomb.

The Tri State Good Roads Meeting will be held at Mammouth Cave October 4th and 5th 1912. Immediately following the meetury there will be a big barbecue

The Object of the Meeting is to make a start that will ultimately result in good roads in every county in the state.

Toe Stigall land was sold Monday at the Court House Door, and was purchased by Messrs. Chas M. McChurd and Will Homan for $50.25 per acre.

The farm contains 162 acres, and while the land is somewhat tired, it is one of the best farms in the county being in the best tobacco region of the county.

Monday was County Court day, there was little business in the court.

In the Ed Cusick road motion, complainants were given until the 7th day of September to file exceptions to the report of Commissioners.

The will of Mr. W. D. Lea was offered for probate and proven and admitted to record according to law.

There was some stock on the streets all of which sold for good prices.

The sale of Mr. and Mrs. J. H Lampton last Saturday was well attended and everything sold well. Dr. and Mrs. Lampton will move to the city of Louisville in the near future. We much regret to lose the Doctor and his family from our midst. For many years Dr. Lampton has been a practicing physician in the county and has ever been highly regarded as a physician and surgeon. Goes Free

Jim Dode Chesser and his sister were tried in judge Liseys Court last Friday on a charge of obstructing the public road. The case consumed the entire day and resulted in a verdict of not guilty in the case against Jim Dode Chesser and was dismissed by the Commonwealth in the case against his sister. The Commonwealth was represented by Hons. W. C. McCloerd, W. F Neikirk and John A. Polin while the defense was represented by Hons. John w. Lewis and W. F. Grigsby.

It was alleged that Jim Dode Chesser and his sister had obstructed a public road by locking a gate thereon. The defense claimed that the road was one that had not been used as a public road but was used by certain persons by permission. Much interest was manifested in the case and a large crowd was in town.

A Fine Band

Last year the Fair Association secured for the Fair Grelli's Band of Lexington, Ky., The general public was so well pleased with the Band that the Directors secured the services of the same band this year, and so far as we are concerned it is our hope that they will secure the same band for several years to come. They are if anything better this year than last year. Grelli's is not a band that has to play rag time to please but they have the ability to play the most classical music, so that it pleases not only the trained but the untrained ear as well.

Grelli's band have been giving open air concerts each morning and evening on the street in Court Square. These concerts draw large crowds at each concert. Tuesday evening they rendered it Trovatore in true Grand Opera Style.

The Fair Association is to be congratulated upon their good Judgment in securing the services of so good a Band.

It is worth the price of admission to hear Grelli's Band.

A GREAT FAIR

Now in Progress at The Fair Grounds. Good Music, Good Stock, Good Crowds and Good Shows.

The Fair opened yesterday with a good attendance. It being ladies day the ladies were admitted free. There were quite a large number of exhibits in the first days class, and the stock exhibits were good.

It looks as if this years Fair would be one of the most entertaining, ever held in the Fairs history. One thing for which we have always contended in the Fair, is a number of good shows, not the usual good for nothing shows, but real live shows with some merit to them, one which when some one goes in, he would feel like recommending his friend on the outside to go into. While there have been some fairly good shows on the grounds some years, this is the first that we really feel that our wishes will be realized, for two good companesare in town one at the Opera House and another at the Fair Grounds, and both are dandies, they are shows that were not afraid to give a concert on the streets and domonstrate to the public what they have They are shows that will be worth attending, having in them something that is both entertaining and instructive. About 125 persons are with the shows and they came in on a train that gives it the appearance of a miniature circus.

MRS. TOM'S PART IN THE ELECTION

Governor Marshall's Wife Has the Memory For Names.

ROMANCE OF THEIR LIVES.

The Notification of the Indiana Executive For Democratic Vice Presidency Honors a Record Breaker.

By J. C. HAMMOND.
Of Democratic National Publicity Bureau.

Indianapolis.—Just about the time that thousands of friends of Governor Thomas Riley Marshall were anxiously wanting to shake his hand in congratulation over his acceptance as candidate of vice president on the Democratic ticket a smiling woman stepped before him, and if one could have heard what she whispered in his ear it would have been something like "Now, hurry in, Tom, and change your clothes."

And Tom Marshall forgot to shake hands with the enthusiastic friends until he had carried out the orders of Mrs. Tom.

Indiana has honored four of her sons as vice presidential candidates on the Democratic ticket, but the crowds that greeted Governor Marshall in the big coliseum in the state fair grounds here today were the greatest in the history of the party.

The west wanted to show the east what could be done in notification honors, and Mrs. Marshall was back of it, of course, over the honors for her husband, she was also worried, for her husband comes mighty close to being father, husband, son and partner all in one. And when a woman has that combination on her hands to care for she has every right to be worried.

Governor Marshall will never gain any honors as a hammer thrower. He is not built that way.

While all the country was reading the typewritten words of Governor Marshall which told the voters what he expects Democracy to do in carrying out the pledges for the next four years it's worth while to know what part a woman is taking in the affairs of the campaign—how Tom Marshall happens to be in the position in which he stands today.

The good people of Columbia City, Ind., never thought Thomas Riley Marshall was a "marrying man." For forty years he had lived with his parents, nursing his father and mother, who were invalids, which was the reason Governor Marshall was not a marrying man. He felt his first duty was to his parents.

Meeting Mrs. Marshall.

After the death of his parents Governor Marshall dived deeper into his law practice, and one day an urgent case took him to Angola, Ind. His duties called him to the county clerk's office, and there he met Miss Lola Kinsey, daughter of the county clerk, who was assisting her father in the office.

From that day Governor Marshall had more business around the county clerk's office in Angola than any lawyer in half a dozen nearby counties.

Governor Marshall was forty-two years of age when he was married. Mrs. Marshall being nearly twenty years his junior.

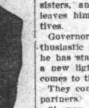
The Marshalls had been married only a few weeks when the future vice president was called to an adjoining county on a case that would consume some five or six weeks of his time.

"Now, I did not want to be starting off like that," Governor Marshall explained to a friend one day, as he told how Marshall that I thought she should go along. And she did."

Since then Governor Marshall has never been to a town without his wife. They have traveled all over the country together; they go to banquets and political meetings together until the friends of the Indiana executive refer to him and his wife as "the pard."

Tom Marshall is not overstrong, explained one of his friends. "While not a delicate man, his constitution is not of the most vigorous type.

"When he gets into a political battle he forgets his weaknesses. He gives all that is in him, and that will tell on any man. Mrs. Marshall soon discovered that the governor would become heated in making a speech and the next day his voice would be husky.



MRS. MARSHALL.

In sympathy with hers. Ours is not a one sided life. We have been partners, and that's the way it should be in this world."

Mrs. Marshall has watched over his administration of the affairs of Indiana with a jealous care. There has been nothing of the spectacular in his administration. It has been a sane government. He was not long in office when he fought for and won show the spirit of the man. They are uplifting. They deal with the improvement of man, woman and child.

While Governor Marshall is described as a "tender hearted" executive nevertheless he is a fighter. He believes in the old fighting stock of Virginia.

Governor Marshall is not a dodger on his opinions, and he lets them be known. While he is an organization man, he knows that organizations are not perfect—that they can make mistakes. If they make mistakes he thinks it is his duty to say so and get the saying over at the first possible moment.

Mrs. Marshall is not satisfied with her domestic duties alone. She wants to do her share in problems of the political and business world. Mrs. Marshall is said to have discussed in detail with her husband his action on the Baltimore convention, and when it was seen that Marshall was the man who was going to go on the ticket with Wilson he wanted to know what his wife thought about it.

"It won't be any harder than being Governor of Indiana, and if the party thinks you are the man it only agrees with my opinion," she said, and that settled the matter with Governor Marshall.

Mrs. Marshall had the honor of being the first woman in Indiana to hold an office. She was appointed county clerk of Steuben county by her father and held that office for a number of years.

When Governor Marshall and his wife were about to be married she decided that her last official act of the office would be to make out the marriage license. Governor Marshall accompanied his wife to the county clerk's office and watched her with care as she noted the records in the big book and filled out the license and watched her as she carefully signed her father's name, with her own as deputy.

Mrs. Marshall, having blotted the ink, said, "Now we can go."

"Not yet," laughed Governor Marshall.

"Why, we are all fixed," explained Mrs. Marshall, pointing to the license.

"Yes, but I have to pay for it," replied the governor. "It's all right for you to make it out, but it's up to me to pay the fee." And he did.

Mrs. Marshall is a keen student, and, having established the practice of going with her husband on all his trips, be they short or long, they make it a point to carry along some book.

Mrs. Marshall is as much of a humanitarian as the governor. A glance at some of the bills that have been passed by the 1911 Indiana legislature gives an insight into the governor:

To curtail child labor.

To regulate sale of cold storage products.

To require hygienic schoolhouses and medical examination of children.

To prevent blindness at birth.

To regulate sale of cocaine and other drugs.

To provide free treatment for hydrophobia.

To establish public playgrounds.

To improve pure food laws.

To protect [illegible] employes.

To [illegible] employes.

To [illegible] night work.

To regulate [illegible] supplies as part of a train equipment.

Governor Marshall has also played in active part in providing for protection of labor, as is exemplified by the following acts:

To create a bureau of inspection for workshops, factories, mines and offices.

To establish free employment agencies.

To require full train crews.

To require safety devices on switch engines.

To require efficient headlights on engines.

To require standard caboose.

To provide weekly wage, etc.

And Governor Marshall has consulted with his "partner" on all these bills. He is quoted as saying a man can't go far wrong in taking the advice of a wife—if she [illegible] as well as his wife.

ROLLA WELLS IS EARLY ON THE JOB

Democratic National Treasurer Is After Small Contributor.

THE PEOPLE TO HELP.

There Is to Be No "Tainted Money" Used In Electing Wilson and Marshall.

New York.—A small, smooth shaved, middle aged man with a coat of tan that gave evidence of much outdoor life recently came into the Waldorf carrying a suit case early in the afternoon and registered as "Rolla Wells, St. Louis, Mo."

The smooth shaved little man, who is to be the watchdog of the Wilson campaign funds from now on, was asked for his autobiography, whereupon it was learned that he was formerly a banker and ex-mayor of St. Louis. He is fifty six years old, was graduated at Princeton in 1876, on three terms he served as mayor of St. Louis, and he has had the honor of being the father of a son who was Prince John and a grandson who some day will be a Democratic king, that is, if he be author of seeing New York this summer until the Wilson organization selected him as its treasurer and that has not removed the one thing that sticks out in the appointment in his mind is that the new job cut in seriously upon his most beautiful vacation which he had planned to spend in the open air camping in a tent at Little Traverse bay, Michigan.

Mr. Wells believes in getting at as much work as he can in the shortest time.

"We are going to raise our campaign fund through the small contributions," said Mr. Wells.

"I am sure that a large part of the money will be raised by popular subscription.

"The people have confidence in Woodrow Wilson and they will give what they can of their means to elect such a man president.

"I am a great believer in publishing broadcast, before and after election, the various contributions made.

"There are times when one well afford to give all the money he can, but I want to assure the public that we are not going to have any tainted money.

"We are appealing to the people, and we are relying on them to help elect Wilson and Marshall.

"I have two boys who have been graduated from Princeton, one five years ago and one seven. But it is not because ours is a Princeton family that I like Governor Wilson. He is a great big man and the type that we should have in public life."

Woodrow Wilson says this is not a time to be afraid to "speak out in meeting." That he is not afraid is demonstrated by his recent speech in accepting the Democratic nomination.

Why Women Are Not RICH.

Man is a millionaire many times over in the possession of blood cells. Woman is not quite so rich, for scientists have proven that the normal man has five million cells to a cubic millimeter of blood, and the woman only four and a half million.

A decrease in number of red blood corpuscles and a person "looks pale"—in fact, is anaemic, the blood does not get the right food and probably the stomach is disordered.

Dr. R. V. Pierce found years ago that a glycerin extract of golden seal and Oregon grape roots, queen's root and bloodroot with black cherry bark, would help the assimilation of the food in the stomach, correct liver ills and in Nature's own way increase the red blood corpuscles. This medicine he called Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. By assimilating the food eaten the system is nourished and the blood takes on a rich red color. Nervousness is only "the cry of the starved nerves for food," and when the nerves are fed on rich red blood the person looses those irritable feelings, sleeps well or right and is refreshed in the morning.

J. D. LOVELL, ESQ.

"I was attacked with a severe nervous illness, which was caused by a disordered stomach," writes Mr. Jas. D. Lovell, of Washington, Tyrrell County, N. C. "After my friends thought I would die and my own physicians gave me up, I was advised to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and derived much benefit from same. My case had run so long, it had become so chronic that nothing would effect a permanent cure, but Dr. Pierce's medicine has done much for me and I highly recommend it. I heartily advise its use as a curing tonic, and further advise that you write Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel and tell him my case and what they did for me. Dr. Pierce's medicines have run so long that there is no chance to be cured.

DEMOCRACY MUST BE A WORTHY INSTRUMENT

People Trust It, Says Woodrow Wilson, and It Must Make Good.

Sea Girt, N. J.—Woodrow Wilson at the "Little White House" at Sea Girt is daily called upon to demonstrate his ability as a ready speaker.

There is not a day passes but what he meets various delegations who call to assure him of their support.

In speaking of political machines to the Brooklyn Democratic club Governor Wilson said: "Machines are bad but an organization may be very essential. For instance, I have been surrounded by an organization here in New Jersey while doing my best work. A machine uses its political opportunities for the selfish ends of its members. No members of our organization would ever think of doing that. Public opinion in New Jersey has drawn the distinction. It has killed the machines, and it is going to keep the organization going."

"It seems to me that we are standing in the presence of something higher than allegiance to the Democratic party. The country has been disappointed in the Republican party, and it is turning to the Democratic party. That party is willing to show the way toward those things which must be realized.

"Some gentlemen seem to find it easy to make personalities out of politics, but it seems to me that whenever that is done politics is debased.

"Men who are in search of reform are now resorting to the Democratic party, because for its own part, I do not know where else they will turn to expect the results. There is no discounting the strength and serviceability of a united party, and the splendid part is that the Democratic party is united.

"Speaking seriously, nothing affords me more gratification than to receive such greetings from men in Jersey who have at least tested my qualities. Because you have known me at close range and if you will be kind enough to remind for me perhaps the rest of the country will be credulous of your record.

"I have spent a great deal of time since I became governor of New Jersey defending your character. It was supposed in the old days, when the board of guardians was in charge of the state, that you were all of you disposed to give the most monopolistic trusts of the country a great ringing welcome in New Jersey.

"New Jersey was known as the mother of trusts, a very troublesome and questionable fragile—and I had to spend no inconsiderable New Jersey assuring the people of the Union that it had not been the fault or the disposition of the people of New Jersey that there were certain gentlemen who had undertaken to carry the Republican party in their pockets and to administer independently of the rank and file of Republicans in the state.

"New Jersey is progressive, but the United States is progressive, and we have never made a despotism out of the people of the United States.

"Now, these people are not bent on destroying anything but they are bent on getting everything for the people. They are bent upon justice; they are bent upon seeing to it that the people in general are partners of the government and not trying to show the other day. And the Democratic party is now placed under a peculiar responsibility. It has to prove that it is the worthy instrument of that rest on the part of the people of the United States. If it does not prove it now it will never be given another chance to prove it. No party that proves unfaithful to that ideal will ever again be trusted by the people of America. And therefore we are standing at a turning point in our politics. We must make good or go out of business. In the vernacular, it is a case of 'put up or shut up,' because words are going to be discounted. Nothing will be honored except the actual carrying out of such programs as sensible men may unite in for the common benefit."

The Democrats are not taking the election of Wilson for granted. They are working and working harder than in a score of years and working as a united party.

It is reported that papers which are supporting Taft will sooner have ordered extra folds of "Ts". And they will be needed when Teddy gets to talking.

Quite a Change.

KENTUCKY STATE FAIR FEATURES

Expensive List of Attractions Free to Visitors.

PRIZES AGGREGATE $30,000.

This Big Sum to Be Distributed Among Exhibitors—Great Show of Live Stock In $100,000 Pavilion—Three Band Concerts Daily—Horse Races and Auto "Stunts."

Two things that are essential to the success of an educational and amusement institution, according to J. W. Newman, commissioner of agriculture, and James L. Dent, secretary of the Kentucky State Fair, are inducements to draw exhibitors and attractions to draw the public. With this idea in view the officials have set out to make it profitable to both exhibitors and patrons, and to that end nothing has been left undone that might aid in the drawing features from the standpoint of exhibitors and of the public personally. Rich prizes have been offered by the management to figure on the greatest display of exhibits ever seen in any section of the south or west more than ever before to be displayed at the fair, and the facilities for the various departments are ample.

As an evidence of their faith in the people of Kentucky to patronize and in the success of the State Fair, the Kentucky Agricultural Society and Secretary Dent have spent no small expense in securing the greatest line of attractions ever presented to the people of Kentucky by the South. Literally and for the first time, one of the greatest musical organizations in the country, a band of forty-two musicians and six soloists, have been secured at a big expense, and the music loving public who attend the Fair this year will have the privilege of hearing this score. This famed organization will be heard in concert each afternoon and night in the big pavilion. For those of the visitors who would rather patronize the racing feature of the Fair than the horse show the management has secured another noted musical organization in the famous Hyde & Behman band of Louisville, which will furnish the music at the race track on the grounds each afternoon during the week.

For the free attractions for each afternoon and evening the management has provided some of the most sensational acts ever presented to the public. Who in this section of the country has ever witnessed automobiles passing through the air at a height of sixty-five feet? For the first time in the south or middle west and one of the few times in this country such an exhibition will be witnessed at the State Fair this year, when every afternoon at 2 o'clock and each night at 8:30 o'clock, two 1,200 pound machines will loop the loop from a tower at a height of sixty-five feet. This is regarded as the most sensational act ever contrived by the human mind, and just as often as it is attempted just so often do the exhibitors daily with death in midair.

At no time during the entire day will there be a dull moment for visitors, as being the aim of the management to provide such a line of attractions in addition to the regular exhibits that visitors for one day only can have their limbs the same night experienced the belief that they have been well repaid for the time and money spent in coming to Louisville for the state fair. In order to please the one day visitors the management has booked well to the daylight attractions, and also the $100,000 live stock pavilion will be the scene of much activity from early morning until late in the afternoon. Among the exhibits to be seen in the pavilion will be the horse show, which will be given from 10 o'clock each morning until 4 o'clock each afternoon, so that visitors may see the last ring of the day and get to the railway stations in time to catch their trains for home, none of which leaves the city earlier than 5 o'clock.

This great exhibition of live stock in the pavilion, coupled with the races and open air attractions in front of the grand stand each afternoon, makes the free attractions the biggest and best ever presented to the people in this section of the country.

Roosevelt was willing to crawl from the White House to the capitol in 1905 if he could help his friend Root. Today he would like nothing better than meeting Root up a dark alley.

The Democrats are depending on the small contributor to help elect Wilson and Marshall. The appeal is being made to the people, and the people are responding.

CIGARETTES ARE BAD FOR WOMEN

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson Has Decided Views on Subject.

AN ERROR IN NAMES.

Wife of Democratic Candidate Gives Out Letter Taking Strong Stand on Smoking Habit.

New York.—For the first time since Woodrow Wilson became the Democratic presidential candidate has Mrs. Wilson appeared. She attended in person her husband's daily conference with reporters, although heretofore she has made special requests that she be not quoted nor written about in the papers.

What Mrs. Wilson wished to have fully understood was that if she becomes the first lady of the land she will not, as has been said in a widely distributed interview, have packages of cigarettes in her personal desk at the White House and indulge in smoking them with her callers.

Through Governor Wilson, Mrs. Wilson asked that publicity be given to a letter she had written to the editor of the State Journal at Columbus, O., repudiating an alleged interview with her in which she defended cigarette smoking for women. The interview had come to her in a letter signed "American Citizen," which said:

Dear Madam—I can scarcely think of any greater calamity to the young women of the nation than to read such a preachment as your interview offers them. I am a sportswoman, and I see open-lose their jobs almost every day because they are incapacitated for work by the use of the cigarette. If smoking does this for strong men what will it do for girls and women?

The "interview" was indeed a cordial indorsement of the woman suffrager. There are some of its closing phrases, all credited to Mrs. Wilson:

"A woman writer for a syndicate of Sunday newspapers asked Mrs. Woodrow Wilson if she agreed with Gertrude Atherton's opinion of the smoking of cigarettes by women. She smilingly exhibited three cigarette holders and a box of cigarettes, which stood invitingly exhibited in the corner of her desk, all but empty.

"'Why shouldn't a woman smoke if she enjoys it?' she queried.

"'Why haven't she just as much right to a cigarette as a cigar?' Certainly I agree with Mrs. Atherton that any existing prejudice against women smoking is one of the silly and absurd of conventionalities.

"Smoking cigarettes is a question of manners, not morals. It promotes good fellowship.

"Some women feel that a cigarette calms their nerves and helps their brains into working order. Personally smoking diffuses my thoughts instead of concentrating them. I enjoy it as I enjoy after dinner coffee. Both are pleasant ways of adding and finishing off, both add to conviviality and good fellowship."

The editor of the Ohio State Journal, it was clear, had been much incensed at the apologies for the cigarette habit among women attributed to Mrs. Wilson, so he published on Aug. 10 an editorial in which he scolded for the defense of Governor Wilson's or a candidate from his wife. If there was no mistake about it, he said, "Mrs. Woodrow Wilson shouldn't be mistress of the White House."

If the Ohio editor was emphatic Mrs. Wilson was not less so. Although not keen after the reporters had said they would gladly publish her letter to the Ohio editor she asked for an hour's time in which to write one. This was what she prepared:

Dear Sir—I have just received a copy of the Journal with your editorial entitled "Smoking Women," and I beg leave to the dignanity deny the statement that I approve of women smoking cigarettes. The interview upon which your editorial was based is a pure invention. I intensely dislike the habit and I am afraid for women in fact, as strong is my feeling on the subject that my only regret is that I have not had the courage long ago to publicly express my opinion to the effect on the public.

ELLEN A. WILSON
(Mrs. Woodrow Wilson.)

Governor Wilson, in approving the letter sent out by Mrs. Wilson, offered what he thought might prove an explanation for the interview.

"I do not think it was maliciously invented," he said. "There is a rather well known writer who signs herself Mrs. Wilson Woolcott, and she no doubt has been confused with Mrs. Wilson."

Mrs. Wilson Woolcott was formerly married to a relative of Governor Wilson and it is supposed that her views on the matter of women who smoke are different from those held in the household of the Democratic candidate.

The divided Republican party is like the boy "blowing against the wind." There will be a lot of blustering, but it will be blown right away from Wilson and Marshall.

Winding with Wilson means more than a Democratic victory; it means prosperity.

Wilson is the well equipped man nominated for the presidency since Lincoln.

George W. Perkins is sure a "bully" Progressive.

THE GREAT DUTY OF ADJUSTMENT.

We are servants of the people, the whole people. The nation has been unnecessarily, unreasonably at war within itself. Interest has clashed with interest when there were common principles of right and of fair dealing which might and should have bound them all together, not as rivals, but as partners. As the servants of all, we are bound to undertake the great duty of accommodation and adjustment.—From Woodrow Wilson's Speech Accepting the Democratic Nomination.

Wilson will make the most accessible president who has ever occupied the White House. He is typically a Democratic man.

Farmers have awakened to the folly of the so called blessings of a protective tariff.

Blood Was Wrong

All women, who suffer from the aches and pains, due to female ailments, are urged to try Cardui, the reliable, scientific, tonic remedy, for women. Cardui acts promptly, yet gently, and without bad effects, on the womanly system, relieving pain, building up strength, regulating the system, and toning up the nerves. During the past half century, thousands of ladies have written to tell of the quick curative results they obtained, from the use of this well-known medicine.

TAKE CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

Mrs. Jane Callehan suffered from womanly trouble for nearly ten years. In a letter from Whiteville, N. C., she says: "I was not able to do my own housework. My stomach was weak, and my blood was wrong. I had backache, and was very weak. I tried several doctors, but they did me no good. I used Cardui for 3 or 4 months, and now I am in the best health I have ever been. I can never praise Cardui enough." If is the best tonic, for women.

Whether seriously sick, or simply weak, try Cardui.

Tenth Annual State Fair, Sept. 9-16, Will Mark an Epoch.

With the largest display of exhibits in live stock as well as of all other products of which the state is famous, already guaranteed for the Kentucky State Fair this year, it is the prediction of those in charge of the arrangements that the exhibition to be held the week of Sept. 9-16, inclusive, will be the largest and best ever seen in the south or middle west and that it will mark an epoch in the history of agriculture and live stock exhibitions. Since the Kentucky State Fair was inaugurated ten years ago has the same amount of interest been shown in the event as is now being taken this year by the officials and the public spirited citizens of the state, insuring the greatest Fair, from an artistic and financial standpoint, at least, in the history of the association.

One of the most important improvements will be that of the enlarged grand stand which, when completed the latter part of August, will be twice the size of the stand that has been used to accommodate the crowds the past four years. The new addition to the stand will be of the same concrete construction as the part now standing, and when completed the stand will have a seating capacity of 5,000 people.

Wonder how the colonel likes being an outcast?

Clearly incompetent.

"Have you ever been married before?" asked the jeune chef.

"Great heavens, young man!" exclaimed the experienced prima donna. "Don't you read the papers?"—Washington Star.

Martyrdom of the Bride.

A peculiar and lamentable coincidence connected the wedding of Miss Alice Adams, daughter of the president of the bride, who died in her wedding finery, dressed through an accident happening during a fire, and the wedding of Miss Ethel Lloyd, her great friend, her arm dressed in her sides and each carrying a crystal bowl of the punch, one of which was dropped on the floor by a dog of which the bride was very fond, and commented on her untimely end.
